1. Free Stuff

I wrote a nonfiction review of philosophy called "God for Engineers (and all logical people)". It's 32,000 words, about half a Rogue Submarine novel. The link's, below, at the end of this letter.

I still have free audio book codes for any book on Audible, also below. If you can't get to your code or if it doesn't work, please let me know at john@subthriller.com.

2. My Apology

I was ill for much of the time between our newsletters. Therefore, I won't have much new content (no update on world navies). The half-length nonfiction book I mentioned above moved from my brain, through my fingertips, and onto the paper at ludicrously fast speed. It seems God has declared my superpower to be Writing Very Fast.

It's the thinking that takes time...

3. Rogue M?

The concept for a Rogue M (Mercenary?) has been growing in my mind, but I have been thinking about Rogue M very slowly. That's a thing that can't be rushed, since it requires inspiration.

But the concept won't go away, and that's a good thing.
